References

General notes about the References page:
- This is the last page of your document.
- The word “References” is centered at the top of the page, with no bolding, underlining, or italics.
- Every source cited in the paper is referenced on this page (except for personal communications, which only require an in-text citation).
- The sources on this page are double spaced and use a hanging indent, which means that the first line is not indented, but any lines after the first are indented by half an inch.
